

Info on Accessing Skype for Telehealth Sessions

For video (telehealth) sessions, you will need access to a computer with a webcam and microphone or a smart phone. iPhone and computer users do not need to download the Skype for Business application or make an account. You can join as a “guest.” Android users will need to download the phone app to connect. You can use this link to find the correct download:

<https://products.office.com/en-us/skype-for-business/download-app>